

What is the London Fields User Group?

This WEB site has been produced by the London Fields User Group (LFUG). We are a community group consisting of local residents and other users of the park at London Fields. Our aim is to keep and improve the quality of the park. Support and improve the wide variety of facilities for everyone in the park, including the sports and recreation facilities. We celebrate the wide diversity of nature and biodiversity, and aim to keep and improve this. We are especially concerned about play and other facilities for children and young people.

Most recent improvements and developments in the park have been produced with our full involvement or were initiated by the User Group. See the History items. Tell us what you'd like - join in with us so we can make the park even better, and help to make a better Hackney!
